Jonathan's Story

By: Alandis Patterson

One day, Jonathan Barkley is doing his daily workout at the gym, but then he notices that he can't bench press without a spotter.

Poor Jonathan unfortunately walks back home depressed because all of his friends were busy and so he couldn't get the full workout he needed in order to be successful for the day.

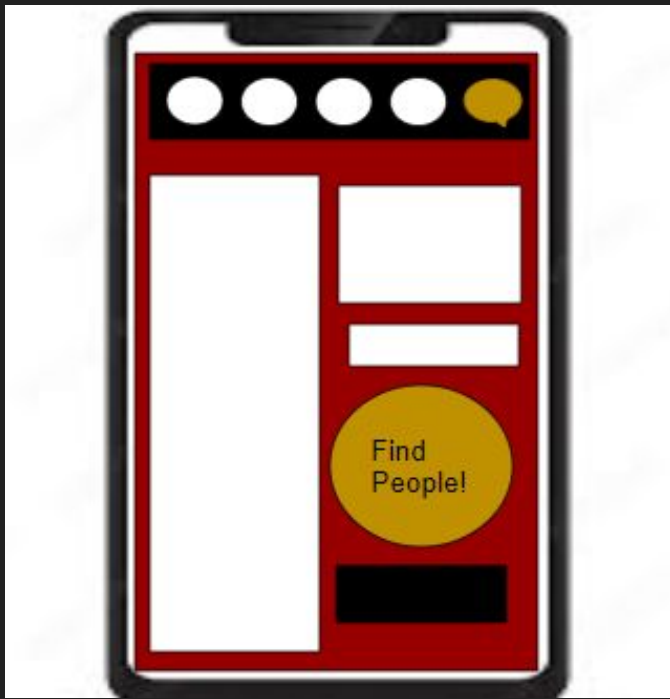

It is now the next day and Jonathan is sitting by himself while all of his other teammates it's hyped and ready for practice.

A fellow teammate then approaches Jonathan and asks him what is wrong and Jonathan explains how all of his friends are always busy and never available to hang out or have someone to go to the gym with.

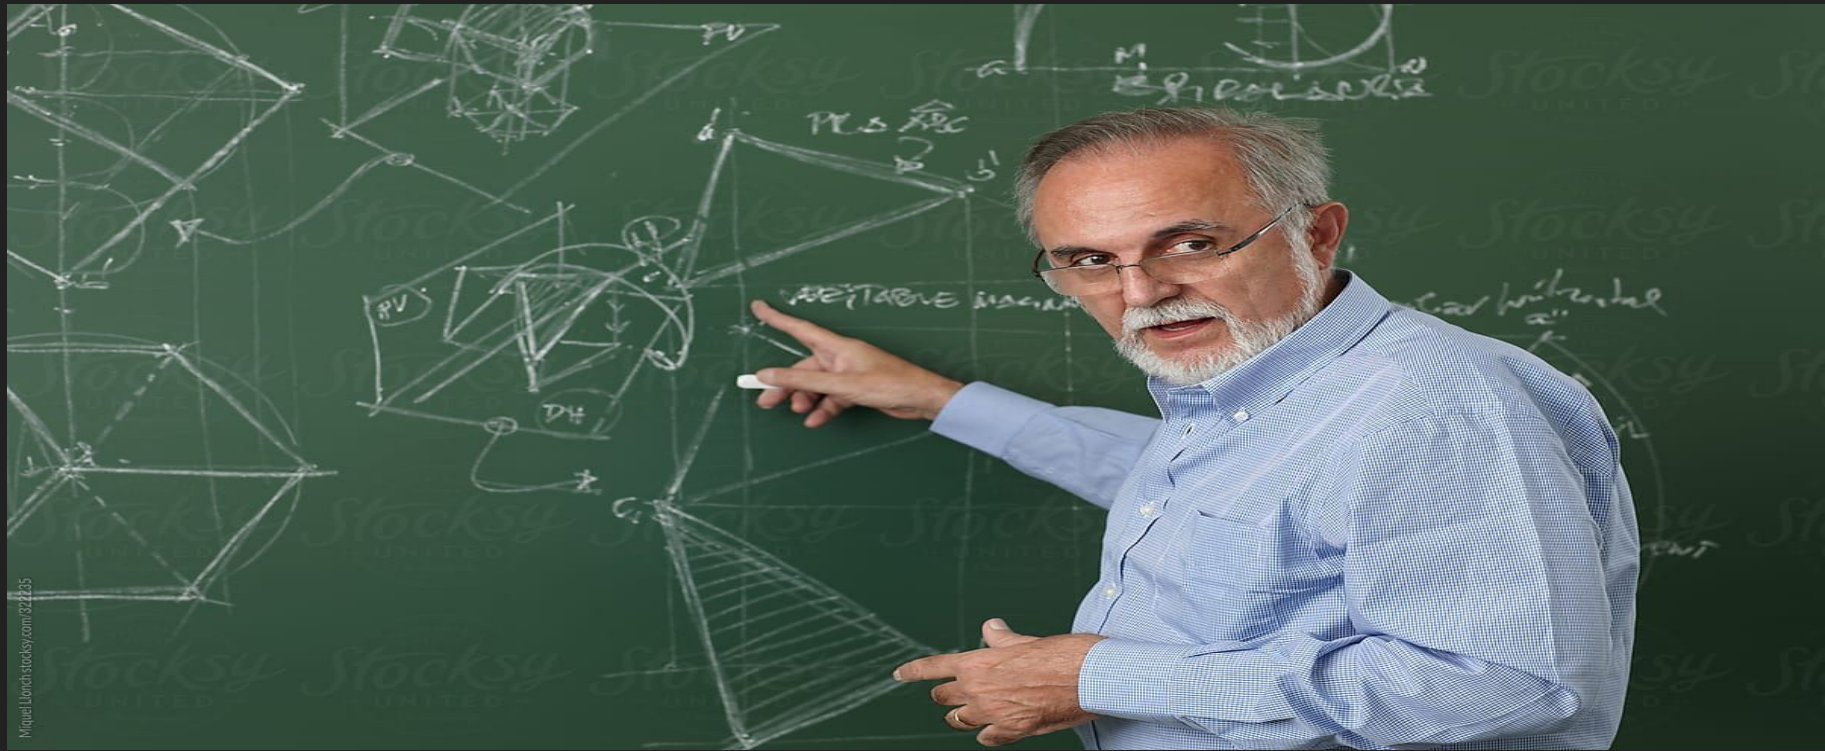

Jonathan's teammate then tells him about this app that can help you find people to be friends with and socialize with people who you have similarities with. Jonathan's life changed forever after this day.

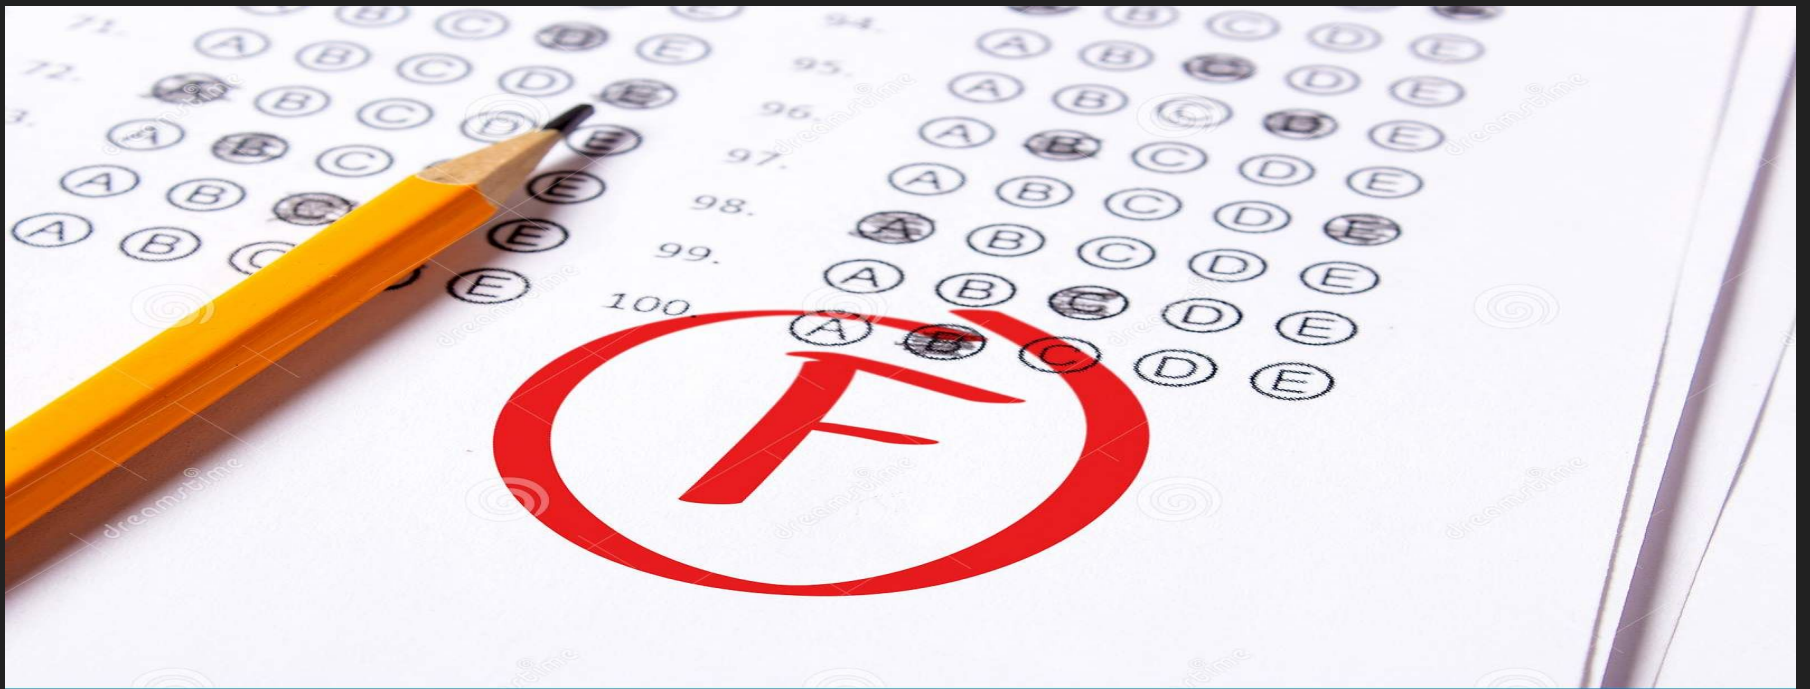

Jonathan is excited about his new finding of the UofSC social app and plans on using it to find and socialize with many new people from many different backgrounds.

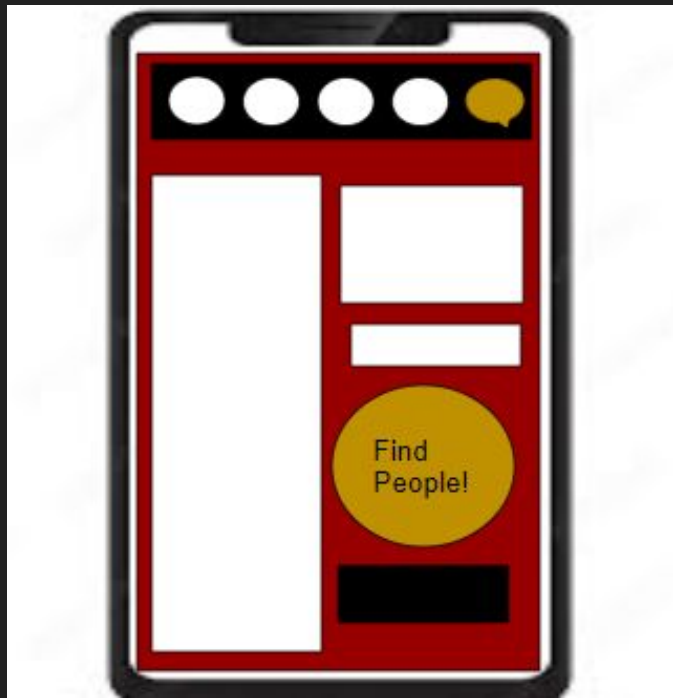

Jonathan now has people to spot him at the gym and has people to go to parties with without any of them being busy because of the many people he was able to make friends with.

It has been a long week of teaching for Dr. Jefferson. He has been teaching a particularly difficult topic for his students.

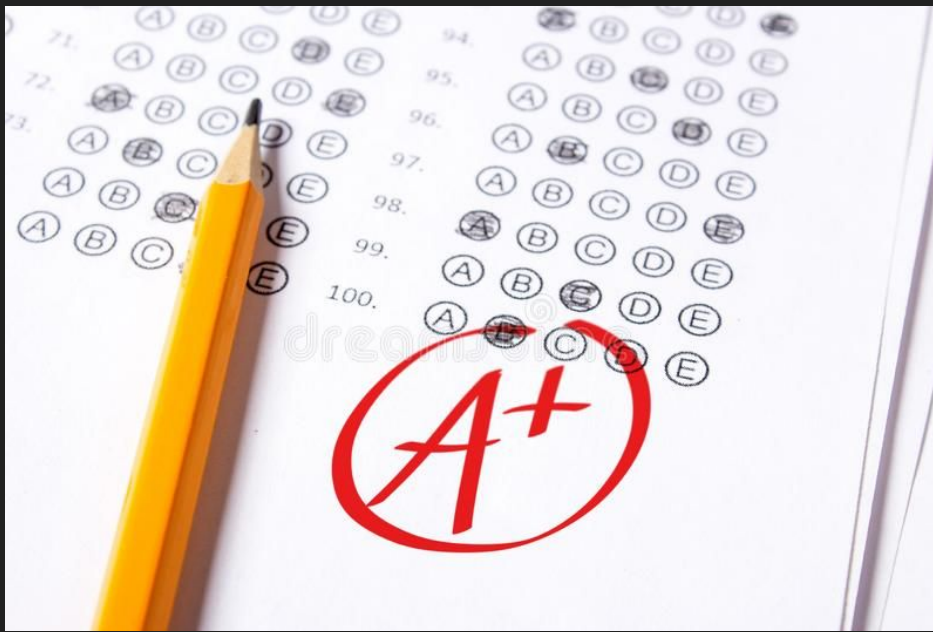

While grading, he notices most of the students have been getting bad grades on the quizzes and assignments.

He decides to make a new group on the app for his class and recommends his students to go and join it so they can study together.

They decide to go ahead and join the class group to be able to go over the material together.

Dr. Jefferson begins to see a vast improvement in the students' grades and is very happy and grateful for the app.

Jack's Story

Created by: Andre Perez

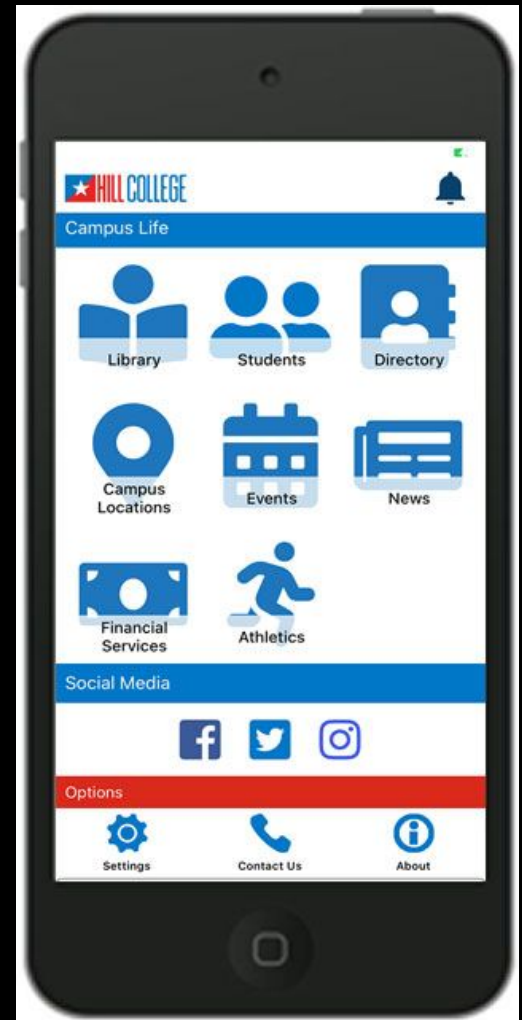

Jack moved in from out of state and is new to both South Carolina, and college. He does not know his way around campus and feels alone, as he does not know anyone there.

While walking around campus, Jack sees a flyer that points out to “Join the Campus App To Learn More About Living Here!”. Jack scans the QR code and decides to download the app and give it a try.

After it fully downloads, Jack scrolls on through and sees multiple sections, such as events and student community, so he decided to go to the events section to see what exactly is going on nearby him.

On the app, Jack sees a concert playing nearby on campus and decides to go to that area.

While at the concert, Jack links up with nearby people and hits it off with them. They all shared the same interests in music with him, and he has a new friend group on campus. The app helped him to find an event nearby to entertain himself, and he managed to make new friends there

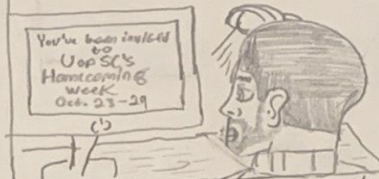

Thomas' Story

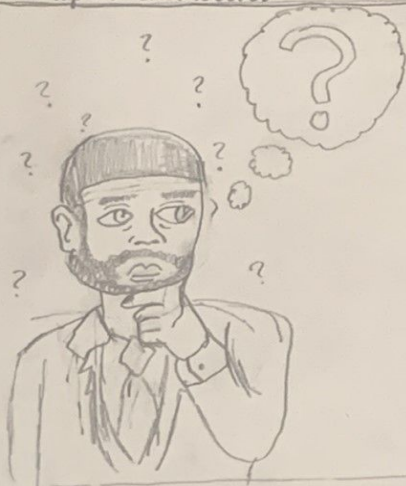

Created by Stacey Allen Jefferson Jr.

Thomas Sowell is an Alumni of South Carolina and the CEO and Founder of P. Stop and Go Motors.

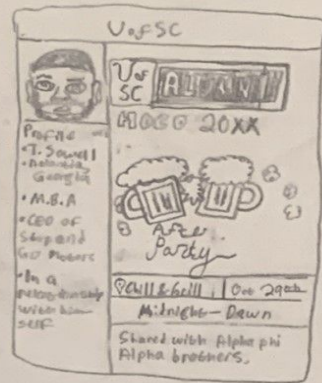

After a long week at work, Mr. Sowell has decided to return to his alma mater homecoming weekend to catch up with his fraternity brothers.

However, Mr. Sowell doesn't know the events taking place for homecoming aside from the football and cannot coordinate with his friends.

Pulling out iPhone 4 (seriously dude upgrade it), he downloads the Social Campus App for UofSC.

With the Social Campus App, Mr. Sowell has access to all of the location and events that will be taking place for alumni and plan with his Fraternity brothers.

Thomas Sowell is now set for a week-end of fun. He looks forward to showing off his new car to the others, gulping down beer, and scoring a date before the night is over.
